Heat Pump Brings Efficient Concept

A new concept in housing will be the home of a new concept in heating.

The Trane add-on heat pumps operate on electric energy until the temperature drops to a certain chill, when the normal gas furnace takes over.

The new design in heat pumps will be additions to homes in the Harbor Ridge Housing Development in Antioch.

The development, just south of Grass Lake Rd. on Rte. 59, includes an 18-hole golf course, tennis and swimming facilities and a marina.

The homes will be extremely energy efficient, and the energy source will be longer lasting because of less wear and tear.

The way the add-on heat pump works is that it operates with another system. The other system, a natural gas source, is only needed when the temperature gets colder than 30 degrees.

Because the additional unit is at work in the extreme cold temperatures, the already long-lasting heat pump gets a rest, extending its life even longer.

The heat pump is very efficient because it costs much less to run than the regular furnace.

The heat pump itself works by transferring heat. It extracts heat from the air outside the home and brings the heat inside where it can be used to warm the rooms.

According to Ken Pientka of Commonwealth Edison, it is a fact that during the heating season (October through May) the temperature is between 65 and 32 degrees 64 percent of the time.

That means that the most efficient of heating methods, the heat pump, would be working two-thirds of the heating season. During extremely cold times, the other heating unit would take its place.

The concept of an add-on heat pump is new in the Chicagoland area, but widely used around the country. The reason it is now coming to this area is the change in residential electrical rates.

The cost to run a heat pump during the 1983-84 heating season was 7.8 cents per kilowatt hour. During the winter of 1984-85, the cost, along dropped to 7.3 cents for the first 400 kilowatt hours and to 4.3 cents after that.

The heat pump is a feature that can be added to homes in the Harbor Ridge Development. The residential part of the development is 15 percent completed and the recreational section is 15 percent completed. The golf course will take up 96 of the 200 acres of land at Harbor Ridge, nearly one half of the development.

Also planned for the development is a super-market, drug store, discount store and an extra 40,000 square feet for smaller shops. A service station with a car wash is being proposed.

Tom Santino, the owner of the Harbor Ridge Development, worked with Bill Griffin of Commonwealth Edison to put the package together.

Santino presently has a model home that is open for inspection at the development site.

Three types of homes grace the area, the single townhouse homes, the condominiums, and the patio homes.

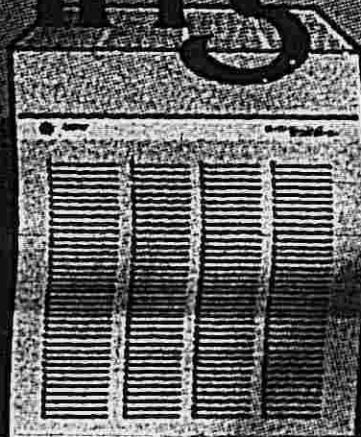

Heat-Pump Coordinators

Four men who worked together to combine an add-on heat pump with homes in the Harbor Ridge Development get together in front of a model home. The add-on heat pump is a concept that is new to the Chicagoland area, and it will be offered as a plus to

Your home at Harbor Ridge will have the most economical heating and cooling system you can get.

The heart of the system is a high-efficiency Trane heat pump that will save you money cooling your home when the weather's warm.

And on all those chilly days, the Trane heat pump will save you money heating your home. Because it yields two units of heat for every one it uses.

Then when it's really cold, your gas furnace will automatically take over.

All of which means you could save enough money this year to pay for a membership to the Harbor Ridge Country Club next year.

As a Harbor Ridge resident, however, you won't have to pay a penny to join your first year. Because your membership's on us.

So come to Harbor Ridge. Where energy-efficient homes help make the good life affordable.

Tiffany Development

Developer Esper Petersen presents a drawing of the proposed Tiffany Development on Rtes. 120 and 45. The development would be all rental including townhomes and apartments. The 50-acre site would also contain a business section as well as a shopping center.

CLC Builds New Wing

Gary J. Skoien, executive director of the Capital Development Board (CDB), announced that contracts were recently awarded and construction has begun on a Science and Student Services Center at College of Lake County (CLC), Grayslake.

Contracts were awarded for General Work to Stratton & Company, Des Plaines, for $3,694,500; Air Con Refrigeration & Heating Company, Waukegan, was awarded a $643,800 contract for Ventilation Work; William Ziegler & Son, Inc., Round Lake, bid $410,804 for the Plumbing Work contract; the contract for Heating Work was awarded to Jensen Mechanical Contractors, Inc., Chicago, for $947,000; Carroll Seating Company, Chicago, was the low bidder with $226,857 for the Equipment contract; and the Waukegan firm of Benson Electric, Inc. was awarded a $585,924 contract for Electrical Work on the project.

In making the contract awards announcement, Skoien said that the 80,000 square foot addition will mirror an existing two-story brick building on the campus. The wing under construction will provide multi-use space for the performing arts as well as additional labs and equipment for biology students. Some of the features of the new center include a greenhouse, biology and chemistry classrooms and laboratories with controlled environment chambers.

In addition to construction already begun on the new wing, future visitors to CLC will also enjoy improvements to the existing courtyard which include walkways, new landscaping and an outdoor performance area.

In making his announcement, Skoien also mentioned that energy conservation was a prime consideration in designing systems for the new center as well as making improvements in the existing building. "We're looking at plans for a highly energy efficient structure as well as improving the energy use in the building already on campus," said Skoien.

The project is scheduled for completion in the fall of 1986, according to Ron Spiegel

Air Force

Airman Kingston E. Bowen, son of Kingston and Melinda Bowen of 28618 W. Channel Drive, Ingleside, will remain at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas.

Present Tiffany Development

Property which is being developed by Esper Petersen on the corner of Rtes. 45 and 120 is expected to annex up to 25 more acres into Grayslake.

The proposed 25 acres would contain a 252 unit townhome center. The townhouses would be privately enclosed and would include a pool.

The Tiffany Development, which Petersen is working on, will also have a 13-acre shopping center. Developers expect the shopping center to house a grocery store, a gas station and ten to 20 small shops.

Included on the 50-acre Tiffany Development site would also be a ten acre put aside for businesses.

The proposed development will have two six story rental units which would have 150 apartments for rent and underground parking as well as a private pool.

Building is expected to begin on the Tiffany Development in late fall or early spring, according to Robert Creel, an associate of Esper Petersen.

Is evidence of intoxication admissible in a negligence case?

Yes. In determining if a person was negligent it is proper for the jury or judge to consider if such person was intoxicated. Evidence of drinking by itself is not admissible. There must be evidence of intoxication, impaired behavior. ★★★★★

Does a stepparent have a legal obligation to support a stepchild?

Not as a general rule of law, but Illinois has a special statute making husband and wife responsible to creditors for "expenses of the family and of the education of the children." ★★★★★

May a father be relieved of his child support obligation where custody and visitation is denied?

No. The support obligation in a divorce decree is not affected by failure of the former wife to allow child visitation rights. ★★★★★

'Art In The Park' Feature

Ossie Rometo, art instructor at McHenry County College, will be this year's judge at the fifth annual "Art in the Park" to be held in Pearl St. Park, McHenry, from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturday, July 27.

Rometo, who has taught at the college for many years, received his bachelor of science degree in art education from Indiana University, Pa., and his master's degree in fine art at the Tyler School of Art, Temple University.

In Florence, Italy, he studied classical drawing, painting, and sculpture at the Academy of Fine Art. Rometo is a versatile artist who is adept in oils, pencil, ballpoint and watercolor.

"Art in the Park" is an outdoor festival and fair that features area artists and craftsmen displaying their original works in the quaint park setting.

The fair will showcase fine arts, painting, drawing, graphics, photography, pottery, stained glass, weaving and basketry.

A special feature will be talented local artist, Lon Wilhelm, doing charcoal portraits. There will also be entertainment in the bandshell throughout the day. "Art in the Park" is part of the "Fiesta Days Celebration."

Great America Joy Returns

Joyfest, Six Flags Great America's popular celebration of fellowship and family, returns to the park for a second time this season on Saturday, July 27 in Pictorial Plaza.

The music with a message begins at 1 p.m. when gospel singer Larnelle Harris, winner of prestigious Angel, Dove and Grammy Award, takes the stage. Harris' critically acclaimed albums include "More," "Touch Me Lord" and "Give Me More Love in My Heart."

Following Harris will be Kenny Marks and the Remarkables. Marks, who has played extensively for the Billy Graham Crusade and is well known in England for performances at the Greenbelt Festival among others, is a host and performer in the MTV-like Christian film "Echoes."

September, a band featured in a 1983 Joyfest event at Great America, will perform third, choosing songs from their second album "Lines are Falling."

The headlining performance will be that of The Imperials, one of the oldest, most controversial and hardest rocking of contemporary Christian bands.

The concerts, co-sponsored by WCFC-TV (Channel 38), WCRM-Radio and Harvest Productions, are included in the park's admission price, and all guest who purchase a ticket are invited to participate in the Twicket program, which enables them to visit the park the following day for free.

To Fete Crafts

A fun-filled day of recreation consisting of a spectacular Art & Craft Fair and down-home entertainment is planned at The Lambs Farm on Sunday, July 28, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. The Lambs is located at the intersection of Rtes. 176 and I-94 in Libertyville.

Approximately 125 artists and craftsmen from a five-state area will be participating in this event.

Power Club Schedules History Trip

Summer is a time for carnivals and county fairs; water slides, thrill rides, screaming in "haunted houses" and the electric buzzing of arcade games.

But what did people do in the days before Six Flags and Bally? A good guess would be that they worked.

The men probably spent long hours toiling in the hot, dusty fields, cutting, binding, and stacking sun-ripened oats, loading them onto horse-drawn wagons and separating them in their steam-powered threshing machines.

And the women probably made clothing, wove rugs, and cooked meals in now-antiquated utensils, while the children played with corn husk dolls and learned how to work early in their lives.

It was through the ingenuity and perseverance of that age of man that gained us the freedom of automation. Through the time and labor saving advancements of technology we have loosened the bonds of the work-a-day world enough to take some time off to browse through the future or wander leisurely through the past.

Everyone is invited to share a bit of history this year at the Taylor Marshall farm in Sycamore, Ill. on Aug. 8-9-10 and 11, as the Northern Illinois Steam Power Club opens the doors of the past with its 29th annual Steam Show and Threshing Bee.

While there, one can be a part of the birth of modern agriculture, seeing demonstrations of threshing, making lumber on a sawmill, the grinding of wheat into flour and much more.

One can watch as rugs are made on an antique loom, and find out how horseshoes were made. Be sure also to visit the flea market while there, with collectibles old and new for every member of the family.

Daily attractions also include a parade at 1 p.m., craft demonstrations, a civil war exhibit, a pedal pull contest for the youngsters and lots of great food and cold drinks.

Take a day this summer and walk through the golden age of steam. It's open from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily. Admission is $2 for adults, with children under 12 free. There is no charge for parking and club memberships are available.

Pair Earns Honors

Two Ingleside students have been named to the Dean's List for the second semester of the 1984-85 academic year at Carroll College. William Edward Laskowski, a junior business administration major, and Dorothy Marie Thillen, a junior accounting major, both earned at least a 3.5 average on a 4.0 scale for the semester.

Fiesta Plans Music

The newly created McHenry Fiesta Days Board proudly presents its first Fiesta Days production with the promise of much entertainment as a theme. The board has responded to the requests of the community in strengthening the parade, providing more bands with more kinds of music and reducing the number of days that Fiesta includes.

Its plans for next year's festival are also a response to requests from the community. The Drum Corps show, which has not been held for the last four years, hopefully will be returned in 1986.

A committee of drum corps people are already pursuing the ratification of this endeavor. The committee hopes to bring a good quality drum corps show back to McHenry for 1986 Fiesta Days and believes it will be an excellent gift to the city, because it is McHenry's 150th birthday next year.

In order to accomplish this endeavor, a fund must be acquired to underwrite the enormous cost of the show. Therefore, a $1 donation will be asked at the gate for Food Fiesta and Banjo Beer Night during the Fiesta Days this year.

The committee believes that those proceeds will be adequate to fund the drum corps show and simultaneously produce a caliber of parade that we have been lacking since the cancellation of the drum corps shows.

The committee wishes to make it clear that it is a one-time charge and hand stamps will permit individuals to come back in the gate without being asked for another donation.

On Food Fiesta Day, a souvenir cup will be given to the first 10,000 adults through the gate at Petersen Park Beach, in return for the $1 donation.

The committee trusts that the community is as excited about the prospect of the return of Drum Corps Magic to McHenry as they are. Plans are moving on a very positive path.

Boating Becoming A Popular Form Of Travel

Boating is a form of recreational travel that attracts some 67 million persons. Last Tuesday on Pistakee Lake, the second largest of Illinois' Chain of Lakes, sailboats were competing from the Pistakee Yacht Club basin. It was a beautiful, bright, sky-blue day with brisk winds. The white sailed, air powered boats skimmed the surface like shiny white shark's teeth biting into the wind. There are 1,144,000 non-powered sailboats registered with U.S. Coast Guard. For the nearest location of 372 sailing schools call 800-447-4700...boat classes range from 14 to 36 feet—basic and advanced.

A boating event for travelers to Chicago is the International Wooden Boat Festival, slated for Aug. 8-11 at Navy Pier. It coincides with Aug. 10 Venetian Night. In addition to new, antique and rebuilt wooden craft, for sale and viewing, a selection of nautical displays will include boats presented to the city by a dozen governments around the globe. Boat building, restoration and model construction will include exhibits and seminars. State-of-the-Art computerized electronic boating equipment will also be Jo Daviess County is in the upper left corner of Illinois. Their Visitors Bureau is in Galena, 61036, (800) 892-9299. It's just across the Mississippi from Dubuque, Iowa.

The county is changing and now has new inns, resorts and restaurants. They have vastly expanded outdoor recreation opportunities which include camping, fishing and skiing, along with world-class golf. Galena and environs calls itself "The New England of the Midwest". Our last visit was during winter. Jo Daviess' snow covered hills and valleys still live like Christmas cards in our memory. But, this year, in "after the storm green", its attractiveness was breathtaking.

Brainerd's Galena Territory is a 20 year old development of 6800 acres for those seeking a second home atmosphere. It includes rentable private homes and condominiums, plus the countrified hospitality of Eagle Ridge Inn. Here the rolling landscape offers horseback riding and hiking. Their new spectacular and challenging golf course is rated one of the two best resort courses for '85 by Golf Digest. Also, Galena Lake offers swimming, sailing, fishing and boating. A multitude of tennis courts are strategically scattered throughout Galena Territory. All this summertime fun is quietly spaced among the rolling hills with no concentrations.

Jo Daviess County is unlike Illinois' traditional prairieland and reaches high from deep valleys through thick forests and rocky ledges. The early Sauk and Fox Indians called it "Manitoumii";, land of gods and spirits.

Free Testing Available

The Lake County Health Dept. offers blood pressure testing for adults at no charge to Lake County residents.

Testing will be held at the following times and places. No appointment is necessary.

Avon Twp. Office, 433 E. Washington, Round Lake Park, from 9 to 10:30 a.m. on Tuesday, Aug. 6.

Lindenhurst Civic Center, 1949, Old Elm Rd., Lindenhurst, from 3 to 5 p.m. on Wednesday, Aug. 7.

Warren-Newport Library,

244 O'Plaine Rd., Gurnee, from 3 to 5 p.m. on Thursday, Aug. 15.

Individuals will be screened for high blood pressure and those with elevated blood pressure will be referred to a physician for medical evaluation.

Instruction for diet, medications and other aspects of controlling blood pressure will be offered to persons referred by their physicians.

The risk of stroke, heart attack and kidney failure is greatly reduced when an individual's high blood pressure is controlled.

New Convenience Store Tuned To Busy People

Take a look at your favorite neighborhood service station—the one with the pump islands and grease racks with stacks of old tires and empty oil cans in back.

This familiar part of Americana, a staple of community life since the 1930's, is disappearing.

Replacing the gasoline service station is the convenience store where you can purchase everything from a loaf of bread to a tube of tooth paste, besides getting a sandwich and a cup of coffee while you fill the tank of your car with gasoline.

You won't find a grease gun within miles of the typical convenience store, which is the oil industry's answer to keeping up with the shopping needs of fast-moving, modern Americans.

Times and people have changed. The convenience store is in tune with the times, exclaims Ed Hovorka of Lake Villa, a veteran of 25 years in the automotive industry, who now is in the process of converting a conventional filling station at Center St. and Rte. 83, Grayslake, a business he has owned and operated for 10 years, to a modern convenience store.

Faced with the prospect of serving deli sandwiches and selling beauty aids instead of changing tires and tuning up engines, Hovorka laughed and observed:

"It'll be a whole new life. I'm excited. I'm really shifting gears."

Hovorka, 47, has attended Shell Oil Company's school for convenience store management and spent a week in on-the-job training at a new Shell convenience store in a western suburb.

"I saw nothing but smiling faces. People really like the idea of being able to shop for convenience items at the same time they fill their car with gas."

The theory behind the convenience store idea is simple, explained Hovorka, who is working on a Nov. 1 target date for the opening of his new Grayslake convenience store. He will remain open for gasoline and oil sales during the conversion.

The convenience store provides for marketing efficiency, an easier, less expensive way of serving more people.

From the oil company's view, the convenience store enables gasoline prices to be kept low because of the other purchases made by customers.

For Hovorka, who was a service manager for a Libertyville auto dealer and a mechanic before going into business for himself, the conversion including construction of a distinctive canopy, will represent an investment of $200,000.

The Shell convenience store will have a deli, bakery, frozen food section with package ice cream, health and beauty aid department, canned goods, grocery items and automotive products besides gasoline and oil.

Outside, four gasoline dispensers with three hoses each will be able to serve eight cars simultaneously. The place will be open around-the-clock.

Hovorka says he doesn't expect to miss repairing cars. There'll be too many things to keep him busy in the new store.

"You know," the friendly, soft-spoken businessman mused, "people are in such a hurry these days they don't have time to have their cars repaired at the typical service station.

"When their car needs fixing, they set aside the time and make an appointment with a repair place."

You mean, Hovorka was asked, like getting an appointment to see a doctor or a dentist?

"Yes," he grinned. "That's about it. When they come to my store they want gasoline, bread, milk or other convenience things. That's the way it is today."

In Transformation

Ed Hovorka, a veteran of 25 years in the automotive field, is turning his traditional service station into a modern convenience store to keep abreast of marketing innovations and changing shopping habits. Transformation will take approximately three months, resulting in 24 hour facility where motorists in a hurry can fill the gasoline tank on their car and purchase a wide variety of merchandise and food.

Volunteers Give Boost

unwritten rule among the volunteers, he said, that they have the responsibility of replacing themselves when they leave the program.

"They take their work seriously," he said. "They know the need and are there to fill the need."

The need is widespread in the community, Fire said. While the capacity of meals served is 20 a day or 100 a week, going Monday through Friday, the list of needy people waivers around 13 usually.

Some people are on it and off it again all the time, while others may need it for just a limited time. Some people are regular customers.

Blair Fire

"We deliver and are a contact service," Fire explained about the organization. If they know there is a person in need, he said, they will "not rest until they know where that person is."

The group is also very serious about the service of food.

"We're not a bunch of old ladies preparing meals," he said. "We serve people with very strict diets."

The volunteers are made up of people of all ages. Firemen, teachers, doctors, are just some of the professions with members involved.

The program runs on a team method. Four area churches are involved and each has its own members. Another group of members is not affiliated with any church.

St. Peters has the strongest team. Other churches are St. Stephens, United Methodist and St. Ignatius.

There are about 60 volunteers total, but Fire said that the program could always use more. The number of volunteers, he added, is not nearly as important as the quality of people they get for the program.

"They take the work very seriously. They know the need and are there to fulfill the need," Fire said.

The area that the Antioch groups cover ranges from North Ave. to the beginning of Grass Lake Rd. and from Deep Lake Rd. to the Channel Lake area.

Fire is a graduate of Antioch Community High School and has lived in the Antioch area for 25 years. At 29, he is the youngest coordinator of the program.

His education in political science and English at DePaul University is the basis of his interest.

"I saw a need in my community," he said. "I'm exercising my education in helping the community."

His past experience includes being a former worker for CETA and as the coordinator of the handiman program in Lake Villa. He presently owns and operates the Near Wholesale Electronics in Antioch.

As case coordinator, Fire will assess the needs of the program and will inform the people of the requirements for eligibility.

The program is designed to help those that would otherwise be unable to live on their own. The cost is only what the person can afford to pay for his or her meal, up to $2.50.

Without the program, Fire said, many of the elderly residents of Antioch would be unable to maintain their independence. Those that stay on the food program do so because they do not want to be institutionalized. The Meals with Wheels program gives them a choice.

Officers And Guest

The officers of the Antioch Township Republican Club met on July 17 for their regular meeting. Special guest, State Representative Robert Churchill, was invited. Churchill informed the members of the club about the going ons at the meetings of the house and the senate over the past year. He additionally informed the group by answering their questions. ACHS Squad To Compete At Wisconsin State Fair

The Antioch Community High School Pom Pon Squad will compete in the Allstate Open Pom Pon Competition at the Wisconsin State Fair on Sunday, Aug. 4. The competition begins at 10 a.m. and continues throughout the day. The finals are scheduled for 4 p.m. and the awards ceremony will follow at 4:30 p.m.

In addition to competing for prize money, trophies and charms, the squads awarded first, second and third place will also receive an Allstate Open Pom Pon Competition patch commemorating their participation in this event.

The Antioch Pom Pon Squad is proud to be one of fifty squads at the fair competing from the Midwest area. Over 1,000 young women will be judged by a panel of four area professionals who will rate the squad on the basis of appearance, routine, execution, uniformity, showmanship, timing, choreography and the use of pompons.

Allstate Insurance Company sponsors this annual event to recognize the dedication and spirit of these fine young women and to encourage other high school students to participate. Allstate believes it is important to support positive youth programs and to enhance community activities. Wisconsin Gov. Anthony Earl has proclaimed Sunday, Aug. 4 "Pom Pon Appreciation Day" in honor of the squads' dedication and fine efforts.

Church Changes Schedule

The 106-year-old United Methodist Church of Antioch has begun its new summer schedule, moving the morning worship hour to a single service at 9 a.m. through July and August.

Each week the service will include the Sanctuary Choir, under the direction of Mr. Scott Pickens, a children's sermon, and regular Communion.

The services will be followed by a fellowship period in Wesley Hall where refreshments will be served. The church celebrates an inclusive and open attitude toward all who wish to worship.

Antioch Girl's Team Wins First In District

Softball season is in full swing and we have been reporting on the events of the boys division, but a recent phone call revealed that the senior girls have been doing a terrific job.

Congratulations are due to the girl's Senior League softball team in Antioch. They came out top in their district and will be travelling to Springfield to compete in the state sectionals.

Coach John Rohde and manager, Melody Fahrner, are really proud of their team. Word has it this is the first Antioch girls team to get this far, and everyone worked really hard to make it.

Congratulations to: Erin Schaefer, Debbie Henning, Cindy Lessard, Michelle Pavelski, Robin Rey, Tracy Fahrner, Elizabeth Glenn, Kristin Kirkagaard, Ann Rohde, Mary Humphries, Ali Rigola, Kenny Morris and Debbie Wertz.

Clara Halling needs some help in locating a group of picture negatives which were taken at the Antioch Fourth of July Parade by her sister Alice. Stranger things have been found, but the task will be like looking for a needle in a haystack.

It seems that the pictures were mistakenly put in a small grocery bag and inadvertently placed in the paper truck located behind the senior citizens building in Antioch. Clara is seeking the help of the boy scouts who run the paper truck, and if they come across a small grocery bag, to please look inside and see if the negatives are there.

County Fair week is finally here. Good luck to all of you who will be entering property that might serve this purpose call Don or Al at (312) 395-7700. Remember to call with your news!

We Should Remember 'The Forgotten War'

by JOHN STEINKE

July 27 is an anniversary. Do you remember what historical event occurred 32 years ago this week? This Saturday marks the 32nd anniversary of the end of the Korean War. The day the war ended newspapers had already dubbed it "The Forgotten War." Somehow it seems as if we have come to think of Korea as tucked in quietly between World War II (1941-1945) and Vietnam (1965-1973).

Yet, 5,764,143 Americans served in the military during this conflict. Did you know that 54,246 Americans died in the three years, 32 days of Democratic President Harry S. Truman's "police action?" These "forgotten heroes" stopped the Communist aggression in Korea, and discouraged a Soviet invasion of Western Europe.

The Korean War ended like no other war. Imagine a series of trenches snaking 155 miles from one coast of this war-wrecked country to the other. American GIs fought and died in these muddy fortifications for months. The ground took so many artillery and mortar explosions that only stubby fingers of trees and shrubs stuck out of the desolate soil.

In a sense, the Korean War didn't really end. There was no unconditional surrender of the enemy. A truce came to Korea in solemn ceremony at Panmoujon. The U.S. delegate and the North Korean representative silently affixed their signatures to the truce documents. When they had finished, U.S. Gen. William K. Harrison and North Korean Gen. Nam Il rose and grimly departed without a word or a handshake. Then at 10 o'clock on that hot July 27 night, signal flares announced that the war was over. Wary GIs prayed the shaky truce would hold. And it did. The war was really over.

The Korean conflict recalls one of the epic military engagements of all time. It was the breakout of the 1st Marine Division from a trap set in North Korea by seven Chinese infantry divisions. The war began on June 25, 1950, when the North Korean Army stormed across the 38th Parallel dividing the two Koreas. As the Communists approached Korea's southern tip, the United Nations rushed troops, mostly Americans, to aid the South Koreans. Commanded by Gen. Douglas MacArthur, the UN forces pushed the North Koreans back across the 38th Parallel.

Then MacArthur's troops headed north to the Yalu River, which separates North Korea from Communist China. From Hungnam on the east coast of North Korea, the famed 1st Marines turned north to the frozen Chosin Reservoir near the Chinese border. It was November, 1950, and winter was approaching. Korean winters are bitter, with frigid, shrilling winds sweeping down from the Manchurian plains. The ordinary daytime temperature is between zero and 20 degrees above. At night it falls to minus 20 or 30. The Marines had to wear layers of clothing. Even so, hands or feet could turn black from frostbite in a short time. Food became icy lumps. Explosives had to be used to dig foxholes.

Chinese soldiers were trained to endure great hardship and to fight for days on short rations. They liked nighttime attacks, charging to the sound of whistles, cymbals and bugles. The Chinese traveled light, like guerrillas. Seven Chinese divisions had been ordered into northeast Korea to destroy the 1st Marines. The troops had been told: "U.S. Marine units have been trained more than other types of American forces for the waging of . . . brutal and inhuman, predatory war . . . kill these Marines as you would snakes in your homes."

Steinke On Politics

The Marines were deployed on the frozen ridges around the village of Yudam-hi, with a savage wind lashing across the Chosin Reservoir, when the Chinese Communists struck the night of November 27, 1950. They advanced through the snow in moonlight to the blaring of bugles and the stridency of whistles. They hit the Marine flare traps and stormed in full light into the defenders' machine guns. The Chinese charged over their dead, and there was hand-to-hand fighting with bayonets and knives. All night the Chinese hurled themselves at the high ground, but the Marines repulsed them. At dawn, the snow was covered with hundreds of Chinese dead.

The Marines drew into a tighter perimeter and held it for three days against continuous assaults. Major Gen. Oliver P. Smith commanded the 1st Marines. He was determined to bring out the division as a fighting unit. On November 30, 1950, Smith ordered Col. Homer L. Litzenberg and Col. Raymond L. Murray to bring their surrounded regiments down to Hagary. At his headquarters in Hagary, Smith planned his march to the sea. Withdraw from Yudam-hi and have the battle-weary, frostbitten Marines march 78 miles to the Hungnam beachhead. The Marines would fight their way down a road surrounded by Chinese to the port of demarcation.

Col. Murray told his Marines: "We're going to bring out our wounded and our equipment. We're coming out, I tell you as Marines, or not at all." It was said that the United States Marines were retreating for the first time in history. So, Gen. Smith conducted a briefing for war correspondents. The general defined a retreat as "an orderly retirement to the rear, forced upon you by the enemy." It implied that the enemy held the ground to the front. However, the enemy held the ground to the front and the rear. Gen. Smith concluded, "So you see gentlemen we are not retreating. We are merely attacking in another direction."

The discipline, courage and esprit de corps of these magnificent Marines was demonstrated when they reached the Hungnam perimeter. The Chicago Daily News correspondent, Keyes Beach, reported that "wherever the Marines gather . . . the battle of Yudam-hi and the breakthrough to the sea will be fought and refought. And any man who wasn't there will always be an outsider in the presence of those who were." The Marines were evacuated from Hungnam along with Army units, South Korean troops and North Korean refugees.

The Marine 1st Division suffered almost 4,000 battle casualties and more than 7,000 temporary casualties from the subzero cold. But they left 40,000 Chinese Communists dead and wounded in their long march from the Chosin Reservoir to Hungnam under tremendous air cover. The seven Chinese divisions that had been ordered to annihilate the Marines were so mauled that they were not an effective combat organization for several months.

Maybe, every two or three decades, we might spend just a minute or two remembering The Forgotten Heroes, who served the Free World at the Pusan Perimeter, Inchon, the Chosin Reservoir and Pork Chop Hill.

5th Board Member Joins McConnell's Supporters

Wauconda Village Clerk Venita McConnell has collected her fifth endorsement from a Lake County Board member in her bid for the Republican nomination for Lake County clerk in the 1986 primary elections.

District 6 Rep. C. Richard Anderson of north Barrington joins with former county board chairman Glenn Miller, Forest Preserve President Donald Strenger, Jerry Beyer, and Pat Wilson in extending support to McConnell's campaign.

In a statement to Lakeland Newspapers, Anderson asserted, "I have seriously and sincerely evaluated the qualifications of Venita McConnell from Wauconda as a Republican candidate for the office of county clerk. She has ability, office acumen and proven experience for the responsibilities associated with the office. As an advocate for better government with competent officials concerned with its costs, I confidently endorse Venita in the upcoming Republican primary election."

Anderson has been a member of the Lake County Board for eight years. He has been a Republican precinct committeeman for 20 years. Anderson also served for 10 years as the first Village President of North Barrington; he is a 28-year resident of Cuba Twp., which is the strongest GOP twp. in Lake County. Cuba Twp. has also been a major source of campaign money for Republican candidates.

Anderson's endorsement guarantees McConnell the support of the four county board members from District 6, which includes Cuba, Ela, Fremont, and Wauconda Twps. The other County Board members from District 6, include Glenn Miller of Long Grove, Jerry Beyer of Wauconda, and Pat Wilson of Mundelein.

McConnell is engaged in a hotly contested race with County Board member Donna-Mae Litwiler for the GOP nomination for Lake County Clerk. Litwiler is the candidate of Lake County Sheriff Robert H. "Mickey" Babcox. The Republican winner will oppose Democratic incumbent Linda Hess in the Nov. 1986 elections. The Democrats have controlled the county clerk's office for the past 15 years.

Teen Wins State Title

Fifteen-year-old, Carl "Bud" Fischer, Antioch resident and sophomore at Antioch High School, won the Illinois State High Power Rifle Championship, Junior Division, June 30 at Milan Range.

He used his Obermeyer barreled, 308 Cal., Remington rifle, to score 726-12X, to take the title. Fischer, who has been competing since age 11, is not new to the winners circle. Last September, he won the State Long Range (600 yard) Championship, and then pairing up with his dad, won the Two-Man Team event at the same match.

His next big test will be in August, when he and other state champions from all corners of the U.S. will meet at Camp Perry, Ohio, for the National Championship.

Set 'Any Wednesday' Premier Performance

The curtain goes up this weekend on PM&L's comedy hit "Any Wednesday" at the PM&L Theatre, 877 Main St., Antioch. The show will run July 26, 27, Aug. 2, 3, 9, and 10 at 8:30 p.m., and Aug. 4 at

Take one rather naive young mistress (Chris Lindberg from Antioch) and a president of a large corporation (Larry Bullman from Fox Lake) who wants to have his cake and eat it too. Add a good looking young businessman (Peter Thelen from Antioch) who is very upset with the president's dealings and the wife of that president (Yvonne Alton from McHenry) who is oblivious of any hanky panky, and you have the characters of a thoroughly enjoyable and rib-tickling comedy directed by Ken Smouse from Antioch.

Norman Nadel from the New York World Telegram wrote, "Its charm doesn't falter, its comedy is deliciously satisfying, and it keeps the audience happily involved all the way."

Call (312) 395-3055 for reservations or further information. Seating is limited so it is advised to obtain reservations.

Season tickets will be on sale during the run of this show for Season 25, PM&L's Silver Anniversary Season.

Dinner-theatre packages are available at the Village Pub, 899 Main St., Antioch (312) 395-3373 or at Struggles Restaurant, Rtes. 59 and 173 (312) 395-9400.

An extra treat is planned for those who attend the opening night on July 26. There will be a celebration at which time the cast and audience can meet each other. This extra feature has been enjoyed throughout Season 24 and has become a tradition.

Along the way with ANNIE MAE

Best of Luck to Miss Antioch Janice Van Patten on Wednesday night at the Lake County Fairgrounds. Antioch will be there to give her the support she deserves. She certainly is a lovely girl!

Belated Birthday wishes to Ed Vejvoda on July 19. Did he get off of the golf course long enough to celebrate?

Congratulations are in order for Lu Ann Oddsen on her up and coming wedding July 27. I hear there was a lovely shower held for her on a Pontoon Boat and Mom Garnet piloted the excursion. Everyone at the shower had a lot of fun floating about the lakes. Some other couple almost did — Sister Kathy went out early to decorate the boat and decorated the wrong pontoon! That would be a real surprise to find your pontoon decorated in big wedding bells!

Grandpa Bob Wilton — That is what he is now! Daughter Patti had a baby girl Jacqueline Victorine and Grandpa Bob's buttons are bursting! Congratulations! Also Paul and Mary Sural, who on July 15, had baby Laura Ashley to bring home to brothers Jimmy and Mark. I can imagine how happy that family is to have another lady in the house.

Saturday night must have been Rescue Squad Night! Antioch's Rescue Squad had their annual picnic and pool party and everyone had a good time. Lake Villa's Rescue Squad had their annual street dance and of course everyone attending had a good time!

I understand the Annual Moose picnic at Williams Park was as much fun as ever! They always make it such a good time for all ages involved. Another fine organization in our community!

On Sunday, August 11, one of Antioch's biggest social events of the year will take place. It's time for the annual Antioch Lions' Picnic, Chicken Bar-B-Que and Auction at Williams Park.

As usual there will be games, races and prizes for the kids and delicious charcoal-broiled, butter basted chicken for the entire family.

The auction, sponsored by the Antioch Rescue Squad to raise money for its volunteer work, will feature a wide variety of items.

Anyone interested in donating items in good condition may phone the Antioch Village Office at (312) 395-1000.

Dinner tickets are $3.75 and are available from Lions members, State Bank of Antioch, First National Bank of Antioch, Great American Federal Savings & Loan and Bank of Waukegan.

The event will be from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m.

I didn't mean to pass up the mention of the other three Rotary Exchange students last week.

Besides Beth Haley making her return from Norway, three other students are home again. Christie Hubbard spent her year in the Phillipines, Laura Herrernan was in Finland and Stephen Biel was in Australia. They all did an exceptionally fine job as ambassadors.

The Antioch Mental Health Assn. has received thanks for donating $5,000 to the Grove School for the severely handicapped.

Thirty Years Ago: July 21, 1955

First sub-district game of Little League All-Star tournament will be played on Antioch's new diamond in the village park on Friday evening at 6:30 p.m. Wauconda will furnish the opposition for the locals.

Cost of doing business in the Village of Antioch for the year 1956 will be $126,374 according to the tentative annual appropriation ordinance, which is on file at the village hall. This amount represents an increase of approximately $50,000 above last year's figures.

Dr. Alan L. Thain, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Thain of Milburn Ave. will become a member of the Antioch Clinic.

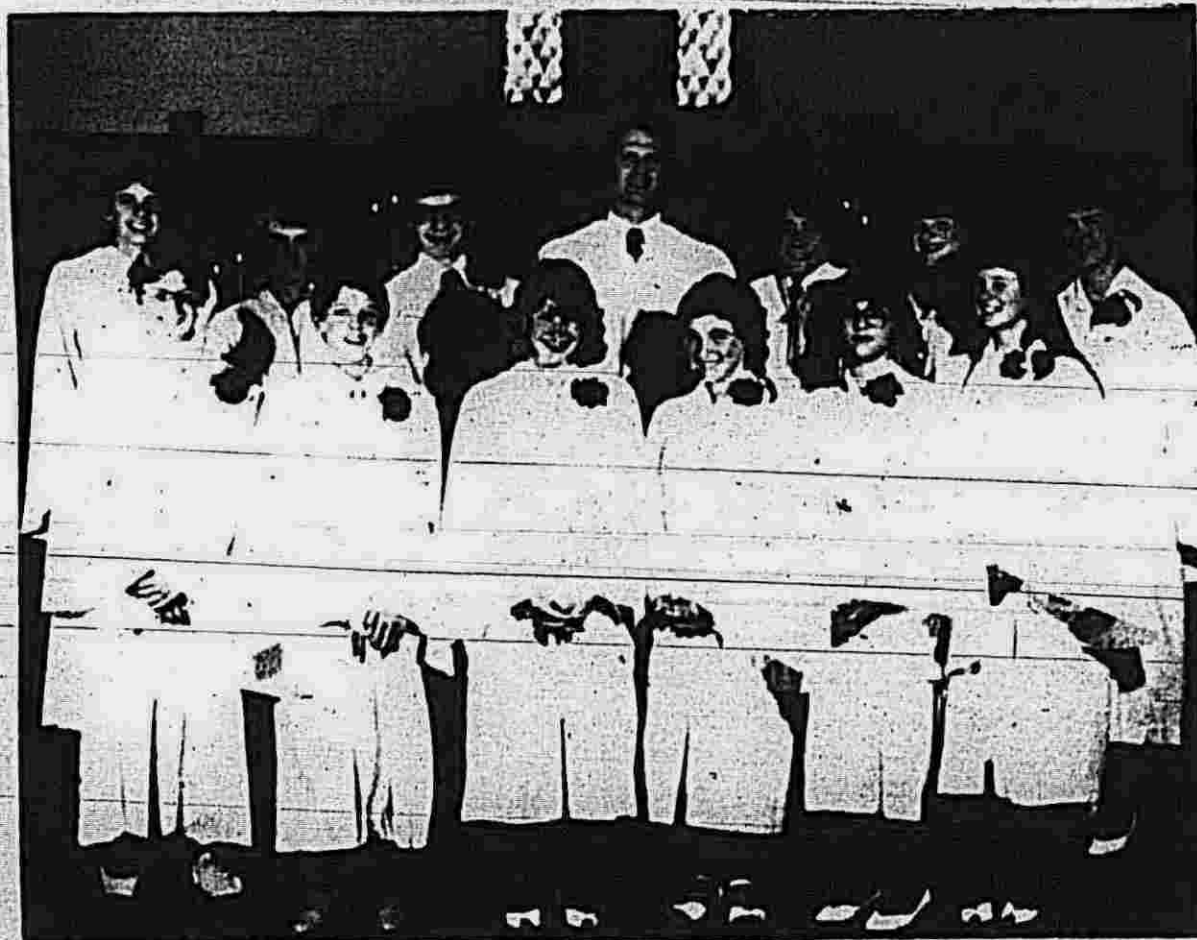

Fifty Years Ago: July 25, 1935

Route 173 through Antioch will be opened for traffic early next week, according to Michael Mehlehn, head of the Mehlehn Construction Company of Algonquin, contractor for the job.

Fifty-eight taverns in Lake County will be padlocked unless their county license fees are paid in full August 1. This is the final work of the license committee of the Lake County Board of Supervisors which has continued its inspection of the taverns since the first of May when the county license fee of $150 was due.

Education for Lake County boys and girls who live in non-high school districts will be decided at a special election Saturday, August 3, when voters will have the opportunity to approve an increase in the tax levy for tuition.

For the third consecutive year, there will be no state property tax levy in Illinois for 1936.

Jennings To Attend College

Ted Jennings, a 1985 graduate of Antioch High School, has been accepted as a student at Culver-Stockton College for the fall semester.

Jennings will receive a Pillars of Excellence Scholarship, which is the highest scholarship available at Culver-Stockton, to attend the college.

He is the son of Alfred and JoAnn Thomas of Antioch, and plans to major in biology and chemistry at Culver-Stockton. His mother, JoAnn Little Jennings, is a 1966 graduate of Culver-Stockton College.

While in high school, Jennings was a member of the National Honor Society. He was a National Merit Finalist, an Illinois State Scholar, and recipient of the Donna Costoff Memorial Scholarship. He participated on the cross country and track teams and was in several school plays.

Jennings also was a deacon at the Presbyterian Church and a mission advocate at church.

"Although a move in a high school career may be traumatic, I am greatly appreciative of the opportunities Antioch afforded me. A combination of a beautiful town and an excellent teaching staff have made my high school career very rewarding. I thank Antioch, and I'm glad that I can now call it my home town," Jennings said.

Rush Photograph To Be Displayed

A photograph by Joseph Rush, of B-J Rush Studio, 141 Cheri Lane, Antioch, was selected for display at the 94th International Exposition of Professional Photography, July 27 through Aug. 1, in Rosemont, Ill.

The photograph, titled "Silent Sentinels," was among 6,000 entries submitted to Professional Photographers of America, Inc. (PP of A) for critique by qualified professional juries. The more than 2,000 winning photographic works constitute the largest exhibit of its kind in the world, gathered at one time under one roof.

In recognition of the achievement, the PP of A member received a Merit Award for the entry, which can be applied toward the earning of a Master of Photography degree granted by PP of A.

PP of A, founded in 1880, is the world's oldest and largest association for professional photographers. The organization provides educational services and establishes standards of professional performance for its more than 13,000 individual members and 250 international affiliated organizations.

Invite Girls To Program

All area fourth, fifth and sixth grade girls interested in Girl Scouting are invited to a three-day "Junior Discovery" program of creative activities offered by Illinois Prairie Girl Scout Council.

Girls will discover the world of Junior Girl Scouting as they play games, learn about seat belt safety and at home alone safety, and make nutritious snacks and crafts.

The program is from 9 a.m. to noon on Monday, Aug. 12 through Wednesday, Aug. 14, at Camp Morrison in Lake Villa. The fee of $9 includes snacks, craft materials and insurance.

Please call the Girl Scout office in Waukegan at (312) 249-5830 for further information. Registration is limited, so send yours in early.

Dental Screening Available

Health Dept. Active At Fair

At this year's Lake County Fair, July 24-28, the Lake County Health Dept. will be offering many free activities and informational materials in Bldg. 7. On any of the above days, fair-goers can have their blood pressure checked at Booth 27 and answer questions on exercise posed by "Vita-Man," at Booth 28.

On Saturday, between 3 and 11 p.m., a computerized "health-risk appraisal" quiz will also be available at Booth 28. Participants will answer questions on their health habits (diet, smoking, exercise, safety practices, etc.) and health history and will receive a scored print-out sheet.

If any improvements in health habits are indicated, the score-sheet refers the participant to a brochure which describes appropriate measures that can be taken. Each person also receives a referral sheet and information on Lake County Health Dept. services.

Booth 29 will offer information on Environmental Health (including materials on salmonella and food-safety, pollution, mosquitos, etc.) Mental Health Div. services, and Medical services.

Booth 83, across the aisle, will feature information on animal control, rabies and pet care that will prove educational for both children and adults. As always, balloons are available at most of the Health Dept. booths.

There's a simple formula for earning a Bachelor's Degree. You start with a two-year Associate of Arts or Science Degree from the College of Lake County. And with careful planning, your credits will transfer to the four-year college of your choice, where you'll finish your education.

Many of today's college-bound students are choosing to earn their degree at the College of Lake County. Why? Because it's a smart move. You can earn your degree in two years, and you can transfer your credits to a four-year college of your choice.

Farm Land Values

The complexities of agriculture coexisting in a suburban area like Lake County are illustrated graphically by comparing cash rents for crop acreage. There really isn't any rhyme or reason for the rents being charged for farm land spreading in all directions from our town.

The cash rent range varies from $35 to $85 per acre and is about as big a spread as anywhere in Illinois. Land rents are based on such obtuse factors as what the traffic will bear, tax bracket of the land owner, cash flow of the tenant farmer or custom farmer, assessed valuation, soil condition and local tradition. At the bottom line is whether the farmer can make a profit.

The value of land in Lake County for agricultural purposes has been declining, indeed, as it has throughout the nation. Assessed valuation of Lake County farm land has been in a four-year decline to reflect market conditions.

Disappearing farm land hand-wringers should be aware of the fact that only four to five percent of Lake County's assessed valuation is in land classified for agriculture. The factors for determining land use are firmly in place. It is a reality that agriculture is on the short end of the stick.

Courageous Vote

Under normal circumstances, taverns are fighting a losing battle attempting to find a place in society on the basis of aiding the cause of social uplift and advancing economic development. In the eyes of the law, taverns are to be regulated heavily and licensed to the hilt.

It is in this spirit that we support wholeheartedly action by the Antioch village council to deny a special use permit for the establishment of another tavern in the downtown business district. By this action, councilmen rejected a recommendation of the zoning board to add another tavern on a technicality and supported the Antioch Redevelopment Commission in its efforts to upgrade retail businesses and services in the downtown sector, and broaden the community business base.

The tavern owner, several officials and a vocal citizens group lobbied strenuously to make it permissible under village codes for the tavern to operate. In the end, Trustee Robert Wilton, who has an indirect connection with a restaurant business which dispenses liquor, stood alone on the question of the special permit. Under such pressure, the council might have buckled, but it stood fast for community betterment. It was a courageous act and the five council members who voted to deny are to be commended.

Commission Way To Go

At least one Lakeland mayor would like to break with tradition and have his community pool its assets with a neighbor for the sake of regional economic development. We think this is a splendid idea.

Mayor William Dam of Fox Lake would like to see Fox Lake work with the Round Lake area, which already has its own Area Economic Development Commission organized and functioning, work together in an organization he said could be called the "Northwest Regional Economic Development Commission." Round Lake officials, we understand, not only are sympathetic toward the amalgamation, they are actually courting the cooperative effort.

Petty jealousies and local suspicions have hindered cooperative efforts in this locality in the past. Northwest Lake County has suffered while other regions in the Chicago metropolitan area working together for economic development have reaped rewards.

Commissions fostering cooperation and the machinery to seek out and process grants are the way to go these days. If Fox Lake and the Round Lake area are showing the way, so be it. Economic advances are hard to bottle. If one community or a region advances, its neighbors also share the rewards. We like that.

Rate Plan Worthwhile

Consumer advocates will be watching closely to make sure that Commonwealth Edison Company's suggested incentive rates for industry do not impact adversely on the public. If, indeed, the sophisticated and complicated rate change proposal can do what it is intended to do, then it deserves the full support of everyone.

ComEd has notified the Interstate Commerce Commission that it would like to reduce the cost of electricity for selected large customers under carefully defined parameters to retain existing industries, encourage plant expansion and attract new investment from outside Illinois.

Wariness on the part of the public and regulators should be expected. It's happened before in the utility arena that high sounding plans to benefit one segment of the market place have been at the expense of another segment. This doesn't appear to be the case, though, for the industrial incentive rate plan. ComEd deserves commendation for being serious about advancing an innovative rate system that in the end should benefit the state's economy as a whole.

Dam May Be Outdoing Dam In Attempted Police Chief Ouster

by BILL SCHROEDER

Has Dr. William Dam, the reform mayor of Fox Lake, stubbed his toe politically?

As word spreads of Dam's plan to "pink slip" his popular chief of police, Robert "Bob" Trinski, a lot of people think Dam will be committing his first serious political blunder since taking office in April.

Trinski, a highly regarded law enforcement officer both within and without the village, is well liked everywhere except with the inner cadre surrounding Dam. Officially, Trinski has issued a terse "no comment" to the planned ouster. It's no secret, though, that the spit and polish cop has been waiting for the shoe to drop. Trinski was the only Fox Lake official not receiving board sanction when the Dam administration took over.

Trustee Margaret Paull, a housewife who won her second term on the board last spring as part of the Dam team, has displayed an intense dislike of Trinski, a retired Chicago police officer who was decorated and commended numerous times, ever since she attempted to foist her ideas of the way the department should be run when first elected in 1981.

Mayor Dam is an expert at playing the brinkmanship game and could change his mind. His unpopular appointment of a defrocked policeman as a member of the Fire and Police Commission was considered daring and reckless. But Dam has made the appointment stick so far.

The August 5 council meeting should be a barnburner.

GENERAL STORE RETURNS—Ed Hovorka admitted that he's never thought of it that way, but the new convenience store he is developing on Rte. 83, Grayslake, from a traditional service station is a direct descendant of the general store where families shopped in rural America years ago.

Fill the gasoline tank on your car, pick up some bread or milk, get the paper, buy some lunchmeat. Out of toothpaste? Need some writing paper? Got it! How about a package of Band Aides? Or a six-pack of soda pop? No problem.

Sounds like a description of the general store where great-grandma used to shop. No, it's the new look Hovorka's facility is taking on, the look and features making service stations obsolete. The new Shell Convenience Store, and thousands like it, have just about everything the general store used to stock—except the potbelly stove and harness repairs.

POLITICIAN—Phil Wells, a former Grayslake merchant who is developing a subdivision on the southwest side of the village, is taking no chances of playing political favorites in his Phil-Mar Development. One new street is Reagan's Pl. and another is Roosevelt Ct. The presidential street names come from the fact that existing nearby streets include Lincoln Ave. and Garfield Blvd.

ROSE BONANZA—Ray T. Nicholas, retired Lake County farmer adviser, maintains about the most profuse rose garden of anyone your columnist knows. Ray is willing to share his secrets for producing large, beautiful and fragrant blossoms—to a point.

Fertilize, water and spray the rose bushes, Ray advises, besides giving them lots of love and affection. He didn't tell us, though, about what the spray contains. That's his secret and the reason why we amateur rose tenders are envious.

MORE ON GEESE—Dr. Bradford J. Willet of Fox Lake wrote in to correct us about mentions of Canadian geese. "There is no such bird mentioned in the dictionary or ornithological world. The species is Canada goose. It is a bit of nitpicking, but the Canada goose is not indigenous to Canada." We stand corrected. Dr. Willet says he has been astonished, yet delighted, to hear the honking other than spring and fall fly bys.

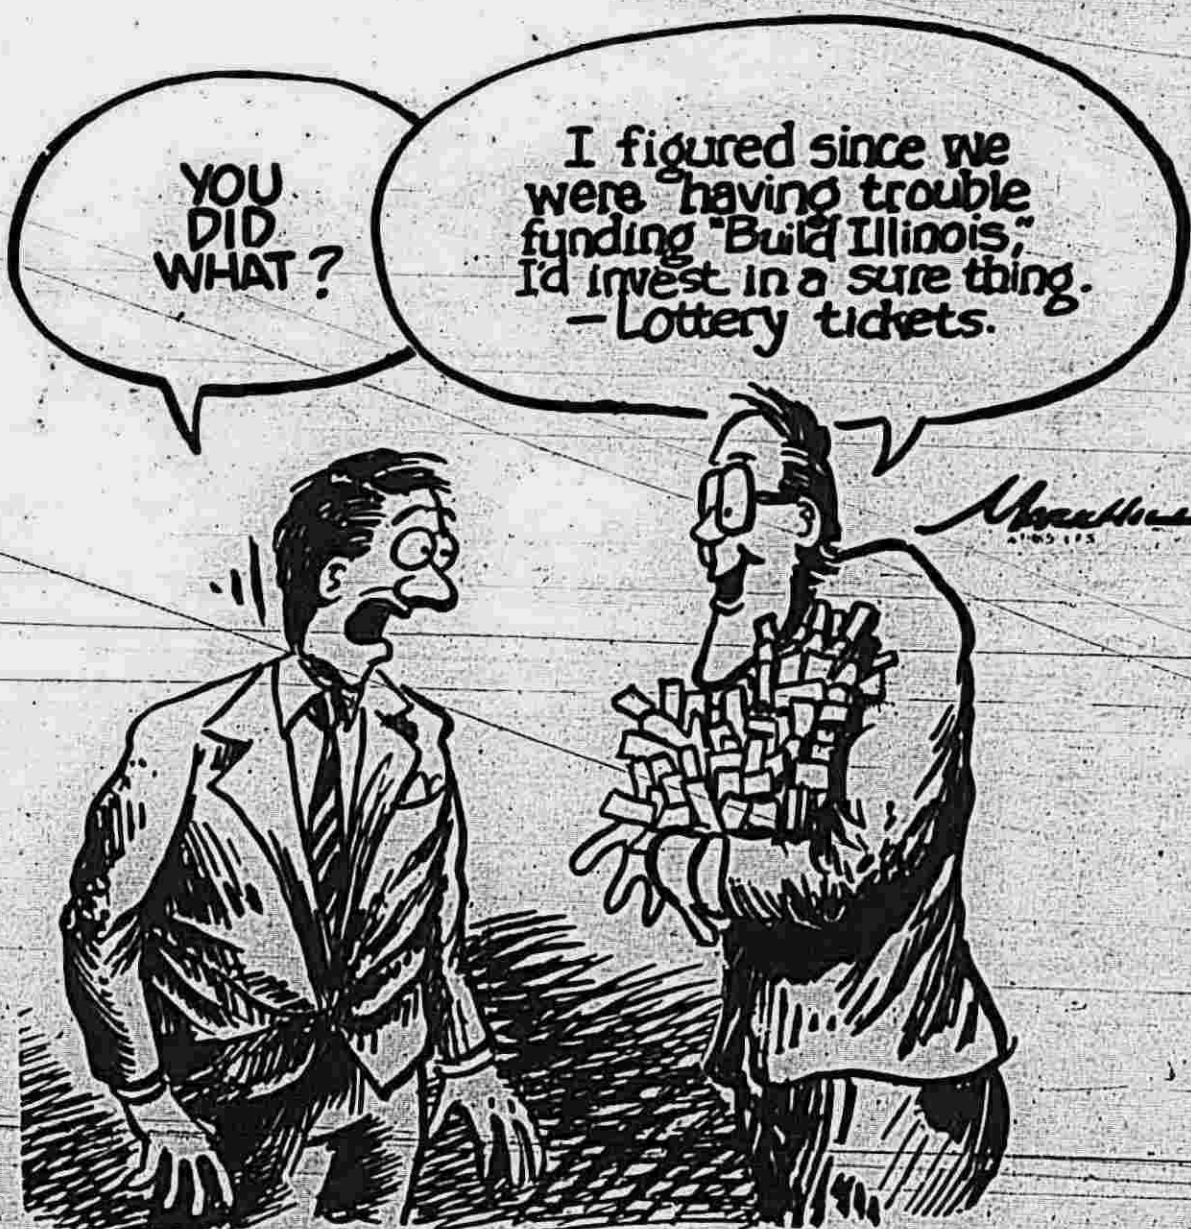

LOTS OF COMPANY—We suspect Ogden L. Miller of Spring Grove has plenty of company in his unhappiness over a hospital charge.

"I went to a clinic to get relief from a cold—a big mistake. A few days later I received a statement. I couldn't believe my eyes—$139. The room alone was $35, if you can call it a room—a wire stretched over a space with a curtain. The doctor came in, looked down my throat, took my pulse and asked a couple of questions—another $35. Then he said some big medical words which I didn't understand and asked me if I wanted to take a new test that was just developed. I said OK and that was a mistake! $69. The end result was to drink plenty of liquids and get plenty of rest. The moral of this story is to see a local doctor and save a lot of expense."

CAN'T FORGET—Coaches typically remember the big wins. Fred Loffredo is different. He can't forget a particularly tough defeat. An opportunity to atone plus a chance to "work with the kids" has prompted Loffredo to take up his whistle and clipboard again for active football coaching at Wauconda High after a seven year lapse.

Loffredo, a veteran coach who was at Grant High School before joining the Wauconda faculty, remembers plotting a big upset against Woodstock to finish the 1977 season. "Our record wasn't that great, but we were improving and we were healthy for the last game. I thought we had a good chance to win even though Woodstock had a powerhouse," Loffredo recalled.

The result was unforgettable, a 43-18 defeat in which a ruggedly built Woodstock fullback, Dave Mohapp, launched a great Big 10 career at Wisconsin. The memorable thing for Wauconda fans was the performance of Danny Christiansen. More of a track man than a gridder, Christiansen had two 100-yard kick off returns for touchdowns that day to set a school record.

Society Couldn't Live Without Pesticides

by DONALD E. RESETAR

I find it necessary to respond to the letter on "Pesticide Poisoning" printed in Lakeland Forum on June 27, 1985. It is difficult to respond to such an absurd letter in only 250 words, however I shall endeavor to show just how ridiculous this letter is. I certainly wish the media would learn to print more responsible letters. I realize the sensationalism of a so-called pesticide poisoning sells more space than factual reporting regarding pesticides, but it is a disservice to your readers.

First, there are relatively few "dangers" involved in the proper use of pesticides. Although Diazinon is not the material of choice for our company for carpenter ant control it is commonly used by many companies, primarily due to cost. This product is an organo-phosphate chemical and is a cholinesterase inhibitor. Poisoning is nearly always from contact with technical or highly concentrated materials and not from the 1/2 to 1 percent active ingredient applied in structural pest control. In the case of accidental absorption, it is dispelled from the system within a few hours after exposure. Symptoms are not those listed as Ms. Kaden's symptoms in the case of pesticide poisoning.

Next, the amount of active ingredients in lawn care services are generally even lower than the 1/2 percent or so used in structural pest control. For instance the Dursban often used for lawn insect control is usually applied at 1/8 of 1 percent active ingredient. Now to prove my point look at any treated lawn and see how many thousands of live and healthy insects you find per acre. Poisoning occurs when the active ingredient reaches a toxic level based on the target pest size. These rates are expressed as LD/50 which indicates the amount required to kill 50 percent of the population of the insect based on so many milligrams of insecticide for so many kilograms of body weight. If it will not kill an insect, how can you expect it to harm people. To lay unconscious for six (6) hours after an application on her neighbors lawn is virtually impossible from the chemicals normally used in lawn care. There has to be another reason.

Now, I am not saying she did not pass out, but I strongly doubt that it was from pesticides. If a doctor diagnosed her problem then I strongly doubt the doctor. (From reading her letter it sounds as if she diagnosed her own problems). To pinpoint pesticide poisoning, several tests would need to be run. Not only would a doctor be involved but probably a toxicologist, since most doctors are not familiar with pesticide poisoning reactions.

It is estimated that two of every four children in the world would die from starvation and/or malnutrition if pesticides were not used to protect the crops and stored food. I wonder if she is willing to assume that responsibility to free us from pesticides.

Lastly, she either lives in a glass bottle or an extremely isolated area hundreds of miles from anything to be free from pesticides. The state of Texas probably uses three or four times the amount of chemicals annually than Illinois does, at least for structural pest control and lawn service. In agriculture it is probably close to the same. I do not know what Ms. Kaden's problem is, but if she thinks it is all the fault of pesticides she is wrong. I suggest she find the true source of her problem (if it is in fact a physical problem) before it is too late.

Editor's note: Don E. Resetar is president of his own pest control company serving homes and businesses throughout northeastern Illinois. He has attended many seminars on pesticides. He and his family recently moved to Antioch.

Whatever Happened To Geo's Senate Bid?

By JOHN STEINKE
(Political Columnist)

Whatever happened to State Sen. Adeline Jay Geo-Karis (R-Zion)? Last January, the Chicago newspapers were speculating that Gov. Jim Thompson was supporting Geo-Karis for the GOP nomination for U.S. Senator to oppose Democratic incumbent Alan J. Dixon in the 1986 elections. On Jan. 23, 1985, the Chicago Tribune Headline read, "GOP may send Geo-Karis against Dixon." The following day, the Chicago Sun-Times ran a similar headline, "Geo-Karis would challenge Dixon - with lots of GOP help."

Alan J. Dixon is the most successful vote-getter in Illinois political history. Dixon won reelection as secretary of state by more than 1.5 million votes in 1978 and was one of only two new democrats elected to the U.S. Senate in 1980 amid Republican Ronald Reagan's first landslide victory, to the presidency. He is a centrist, noncommittal and do-nothing. Senator Dixon has made a political career out-of-doing nothing, avoiding controversy and capitalizing upon his name recognition. Can you cite one example of Dixon's legislative accomplishments in the past five years? His record has been a vast wasteland.

Geo-Karis might be a surprisingly strong candidate against Alan J. Zero. First, she is an indefatigable campaigner. If she runs for the U.S. Senate, Geo-Karis will become the Grand Marshal of Illinois parades. Her marching feet will be a special attraction to Illinois voters. Second, State Sen. Geo-Karis is a Greek-American, who migrated to this country. She served her country with distinction in the military.

candidacy. Fourth, Geo-Karis can claim vast legislative experience because of her 13-years of service in the Illinois General Assembly. She spent six years in the Illinois House and has been a state senator since 1978. Her recent campaign against the Seat Belt Law has reinforced her image as a concerned legislator against irrational bills. Finally, Geo-Karis' presence on the statewide ticket will help Lake County Republican candidates in the

Commentary

Her patriotic speeches are a genuine expression of her feelings toward her adopted land. Every Greek restaurant in the state will advertise her candidacy. In addition, her immigrant background will appeal to the traditionally democratic white ethnic voters in Chicago.

Third, she is a female candidate. Most women voters realize that there are only two female senators serving at the present time: Nancy Landon Kassebaum (R-Kan.) and Paula Hawkins (R-Fla.) Geo-Karis would unify the anti-E.R.A. forces and the feminists behind her 1986 elections. She will probably garner 70 percent of the Lake County vote. Her skirttails will assist the entire party slate.

Lately, there hasn't been any media publicity regarding her possible U.S. Senatorial candidacy. Does that mean Gov. Jim Thompson has designated a different candidate to oppose Dixon?

Or, has Geo-Karis quietly abandoned her potential candidacy because State Sen. David Barkhausen (R-Lake Bluff) is running for the Republican nomination for Ill. Atty. General? Give us the answer, "Geo."

Explains Confusing Topic Of 'Reverses'

by BILL SACHEN

Jean Radtke, one of our regular readers from Mundelein, has asked me to write an article on "reverses." This is a topic which confuses most bridge players.

BRIDGE

by Bill
Sachen

Waukegan Bridge Center
(312) 662-7204

The definition of a reverse in the latest edition of the American Contract Bridge League, "The Official Encyclopedia of Bridge," is "an unforced rebid at the level of two or more in a higher ranking suit than that bid originally — usually a strength-showing bid."

This is not too helpful, so let's take an example hand. You open 1C, your partner responds to 1S and you rebid 2H. If your partner prefers clubs to hearts, he must take you to the 3-level. Since he may have only six points for his 1S response, you may be in trouble in 3C unless you have extra values. If you have a minimum of 13 points and your partner has only six points, you don't want to be at the 3-level. For example:

Left
H-KJ74
D-Q32
C-AQJ7

Right
S-AQ74
H-32
D-54
C-109843

If you open 1C, partner should respond 1S to look for a 4-4 fit in a major suit. If you now bid 2H, partner will have to bid 3C to take you to your first bid suit. With only 19 high card points between the two hands, you should not be at the 3-level.

You would be very lucky to make 3C. With this minimum hand, you should rebid 1NT. Partner can now bid 2C and you can pass. Note that it would be wrong for partner to raise 1C to 2C immediately since you might miss a 4-4 spade fit. Always bid a 4-card major at the one-level rather than raising your partner's minor suit.

What type of hand do you receive? You should have a minimum of 17 points and your first bid suit should be longer than your second. With S-72, H-AQ74, D-K8, C-AQJ94, you can open 1C and if partner responds 1S, you reverse to 2H. You have a good enough hand that you can stand a 3C rebid from partner if he prefers clubs to hearts. Do not reverse unless your first bid suit is longer than your second. With S-72, H-AQ74, D-KQ3, C-AQJ9 open 1C and jump to 2NT if partner responds 1S. With S-72, H-AQJ4, D-K54, C-AQJ9, open 1NT. Don't let the worthless doubleton in spades deter you from opening 1NT. It is your most descriptive bid and solves all of your rebid problems.

Most partnerships treat a reverse as forcing for one round. Responder can rebid his suit if it is five cards or longer, bid notrump with the unbid suit stopped, take partner back to his first suit with 3-card support, raise partner's second suit with 4-card support, or bid the unbid suit.

Pets Need Cooling Off In Hot Weather

by CHARLENE WHITNEY

At last, school is out and the summer vacation has begun. Most everyone loves those warm summer days and we have so many plans for things that we want to do. Don't get so busy that you forget to give your pets that extra care for these hot days ahead.

Take time to stop and think about the care that they need and what is best for them. Everytime you go for a drink, make sure that they also have fresh water.

If you have a tank of fish, make sure to keep them out of the sun light. This also goes for birds and hamsters and other pets. You also will want to keep them out of the draft of a fan or air conditioner. You should check the temperature in the fish tank and cool it down slowly with a little cool water. Birds and in most cases, the heat stress can be avoided if the owners just take a few precautions. Check with your veterinarian for more information about this.

You may find that your pet will be less active in the hot weather, so he will need fewer calories and it usually is a good idea to feed a little less food. Be sure he has lots of fresh water. Secure the bowl so that his water doesn't get spilled.

Many owners enjoy taking their pets with them for car rides. What could be a joy ride to the shopping area could be a dangerous time for your pet. While you are in the store even for five minutes the car is heating up for your pet. In ten minutes, the car can be 102 degrees and in 30 minutes, it will reach 120 degrees. You could be giving your pet brain damage or even death.

If you must take the pet in a car and you have no choice but to leave the pet in the car, please park it in the shade and be sure to crack the windows. Leave a dish of water in the car or crushed ice for him to get to. Even then, you are taking a chance. After three minutes, it may no longer be safe.

A second danger is, someone taking your pet. Never let your pet ride in an open vehicle or ride with his head out an open window, as he could fall out or even jump out to chase something, which is dangerous.

Should you be leaving your pet at home, leave him in a cool room. Sometimes, you can leave a window open or a fan or an air conditioner going. Remember that the house may feel cool when you leave in the morning, but that will quickly change in the afternoon. Make sure that the fan is safely operating away from the pet. Often a basement or lower level are nice and cool.

Don't forget that this is the time of year for rabies and you will want to have his shots kept up-to-date. This is also the time of year when one has to worry about heart worm. If your dog has not had the tests for heart worm and given his heart worm medicine, you'll want to take care of that right away. No one wants to lose a pet due to that.

With a few precautions, you and your pet can have a really nice and safe summer and perhaps the warm days can even be fun for all. This could be the best time of year for most people to enjoy being with their pets.

hamsters, etc., should have plenty of fresh water and their cages will need cleaning more often. Don't leave any of them in front of an open window at any time. The large degree of change of temperature in 24 hours could be very hard on your pet. It has been known to get very cool at night and then very hot in the afternoon.

Other pets such as horses, cats, dogs, etc., need lots of cool fresh water and plenty of shade.

If you plan to play with your pet, pick a cool time such as early morning or evening. Don't let your pet overdo it. You don't want him to get heat stroke.

If you dog should get heat stroke, be sure that you know what to do before it could happen. Learning about such things ahead of time can save your pet.

A heat stroke is a high fever that must be reduced rapidly to save the dog's life. His body temperature of 106 degrees can only go on for a few minutes before real danger occurs. A dog's normal body temperature is about 102 degrees and he can only withstand a body temperature up to 108 degrees for a short time before suffering brain damage or even death.

The fastest and most effective treatment is probably immersing the dog in ice water. If you can't do this, try spraying cold water on the dog. Recovery will depend on prompt treatment. Be sure to get your pet to the veterinarian as quickly as you can.

Should your pet get overcome by the heat, you can put him into cold water until the body temperature is lowered. Be sure and offer a cool drink.

Puppies are more vulnerable to external heat stress. You may find that short-nosed breeds suffer more in the heat. Also, overweight dogs can have respiratory problems faster than a normal, healthy dog. However,

Volleyball Team Shows Bright Spots In Tourney

by DAN G. O'SHEA

Success was not evident by the scores, but there were a few bright spots for The System boys volleyball team from Mundelein in the AAU/USA National Junior Olympics volleyball championships.

According to The System coach Phil Mazur, the team's captain, Chris Klein, was one of those bright spots. "His hitting and blocking were exceptional," Mazur said. Klein was also considered for All-American status.

Teammate Fred Bellinder also surprised Mazur with his back row defense and Ed Werner, a new addition to the team, also showed surprising play.

"The boys showed flashes of brilliance at times and played below their potential at others," said Mazur. The team was winless in the initial six-team pool play and was eliminated in the first round of the single elimination phase of the tournament by a team from Miami, Fla., 15-2 and 15-2.

The tournament was held in Lisle, Ill., at Illinois Benedictine College. Mazur said 218 teams played 702 matches at four different sites in the four days of the tournament. The Seattle Raindaws were the eventual winner of the championships and IDS/American Express came in second.

The Mundelein team lost to Seattle 15-4 and 15-4 in the pool play. It also played teams from Milwaukee, Palatine, Albuquerque and the University of Texas.

"The learning process is there and continued practice at the basic skills will pay dividends in the future," said Mazur. As for next year, "If they want to compete, it will be tougher," he said.

Werner and another addition, David Kratz, are both from Wildwood. All of the other team members are from Mundelein.

Tax Reform View Cloudy On Home Ownership

Will the Reagan Administration's tax reform proposal hurt the average American's most cherished investment—his home?

In recent weeks, national housing industry trade groups have warned Congress that the present tax reform proposal would sharply raise the after-tax cost of homeownership, and eventually result in declining home prices.

Under the present tax code a homeowner in the 25 percent tax bracket who pays $10,000 a year in interest on his mortgage and about $2,000 in annual property taxes could deduct $12,000 in taxes and interest, thereby saving $3,000 in income taxes.

However, under the reform proposals the same homeowner would be in the new 15 percent tax bracket, and property taxes would no longer be deductible. So he would only save $1,500 in federal income taxes on $10,000 in mortgage interest deductions.

"Clearly, yields on all real estate investment would fall significantly," said David D. Roberts, a Mobile, Ala., real estate broker and president of the National Association of Realtors (NAR).

In testimony earlier this month before the House Ways and Means Committee, Roberts and John Koelemij, president of the National Association of Home Builders, warned that these provisions of the tax revision plan would discourage homeownership.

 ELIMINATION OF THE PROPERTY TAX DEDUCTION. This would raise the after-tax cost of a typical home valued at $85,000 by about $400, NAR estimates, and result in about a five percent decline in the house's resale value. This would mean a 10 percent drop in the value of the homeowner's equity.

 A CUT IN MORTGAGE DEDUCTIONS FOR SECOND HOMES. The proposed $5,000 limit on mortgage interest deductions for investment real estate would harm middle-income owners of second homes. Loss of both the property tax deduction and the limit on mortgage interest deductions would cause the after-tax cost of the typical $60,000 second home to rise 25-60 percent, Roberts estimated. As a result, second-home property values could fall by 20 to 40 percent.

 ELIMINATION OF TAX-EXEMPT REVENUE BOND FINANCING. "This could squeeze 250,000 first-time home buyers out of the housing market," Koelemij said. "Under the current revenue bond program, moderate- and middle-income families can obtain mortgage money at about two percent below conventional market rates."

While the housing industry is lobbying against tax reform, real estate investment analysts told The Meyers Report the proposals may not have a crippling effect on homeownership.

The Meyers Report

Economic forecaster Gary S. Meyers has been a lecturer and consultant to major financial institutions, government analysts, real estate developers and daily newspapers throughout the nation for the past 16 years. Readers are invited to submit comments and questions for possible use as subjects for future columns. Write Gary S. Meyers & Associates, 2200 S. Main St., Suite 106, Lombard, Ill. 60148.

"Loss of property tax deductions will increase the after-tax cost of homeownership, but it is unrealistic that home prices would rapidly fall as a result," said housing analyst Stephen Roulac, president of San Francisco-based Stephen Roulac & Co.

Roulac said it is more likely that the loss of real estate tax breaks would be offset by tax savings from other provisions of the new tax code, resulting in a limited change in the after-tax disposable income of home buyers.

"The key factors to consider in evaluating the effect of the tax proposal on homeownership are the underlying demand for housing, the effect of the tax proposal on rental apartments, and the effect on other tax-shelter investments," he said.

"The motivation to buy a home far transcends tax considerations," Roulac said. "It is improbable that taxes alone will discourage people from buying."

A recent study by the Harvard-MIT Joint Center for Urban Studies supports Roulac's view. The study found that 76 percent of those who purchased homes in 1983 and 1984 would have done so without the tax breaks. Thus, only 24 percent were concerned with the tax benefits, including the interest deduction, in making the decision to buy.

In addition, despite the relatively less advantageous investment benefits of housing in 1983-84 compared to the 1970s, the demand for homes has been relatively strong, sources told The Meyers Report.

"The overall effect of tax reform may be to encourage more interest in owner-occupied housing because of expected higher apartment rental rates due to reduced apartment construction and the need for landlords to maintain profits with reduced tax benefits," predicted analyst Douglas E. Sobolik, partner in the accounting firm of Deloitte, Haskins & Sells.

"In addition, higher rental rates are likely to increase landlord-tenant tensions, encouraging homeownership as a means of personal control of one's shelter," Sobolik said.

"If housing prices fall, the supply of new rental and ownership housing would decline, creating more competition for apartments," Sobolik said. "This, in turn, would spur higher rental rates which would lead to higher apartment and home values."

He said tax reform also would spur home buyers to carry the maximum loan debt the house could support, because interest on mortgages will remain deductible.

Investors would be motivated to take out large second mortgages on primary homes to pay off vacation-home mortgages, because interest deductions on these loans would be limited, Sobolik said.

On Peak Alert days, it pays to use less.

What is a Peak Alert?

On Peak Alert days (like the hottest days of summer) there's an extra-high demand for electricity. And this demand tests our ability to provide the energy you need.

If we announce a Peak Alert, it means we already have our thrifty coal and nuclear generators on the job. But even they can't provide enough electricity to meet everyone's needs. So we must also use generators that run on oil to meet the additional demand.

Unfortunately, some fuels are more expensive than others. Oil-produced power costs about four times more than nuclear-generated power. And all of us pay for that extra fuel expense in our electric bills.

You can lower your energy bills this summer.

Every summer day, and especially when we've issued a Peak Alert, adopt some of these energy-saving, money-saving habits:

If you stay indoors:

- Set your air conditioner at 78° or higher.
- Keep your curtains closed so the sun's hot rays will stay outside.
- Wash your clothes and run your dishwasher on a cool day.
- Use all large appliances before 9 AM or after 10 PM.
- Open your refrigerator only when necessary.

Switch to outdoor activities.

- Head to the beach or find a refreshing pool.
- Dry your clothes outdoors. Added humidity inside your house only makes your air conditioner work harder.
- Cook on charcoal (instead of the stove). Or don't cook at all—try a light sandwich or salads.

Ask for our free Waste Watcher's Guide.

It lists 101 things you can do to save energy every day. If you'll just switch your habits. For your copy, write:

Energy Information, P.O. Box 767, Chicago, IL 60690
And in the meantime, remember that when there's a Peak Alert, it pays to use less.

Seek New Illinois' Mother - Daughter

Applications are now being accepted for the 1986 Illinois Mother - Daughter Pageant to be held Sept. 29 at the Sabre Room in Hickory Hills.

The 1985 Mother Daughter winners are Lee Ann and Connie Sydenstricker of Missouri. The pageant was televised from Sunny Isles, Florida and hosted by Bert Parks. The 1986 pageant will be held in Sunny Isles in December. Over $50,000 in prizes and awards will be awarded to the national winners.

To qualify, daughters must be at least 16 years of age by Nov. 30, 1985; mothers may be any age. Mothers and daughters must be citizens of the United States. Daughter must be the natural or adopted child of a married couple. (Couple may be divorced). Daughter may be single or married with children. Mother and/or daughter may be divorced, separated or widowed.

Contestants will be judged in four categories. Each set of mother and daughter will meet with a panel of judges for a personal interview where they will be judged on their ability to communicate and evaluate the contestant's knowledge, perception, self-expression, sense of values, attitudes and future goals.

Both mother and daughter will be judged on beauty of face and figure in swimsuit competition. Mothers will be allowed to wear nylons with their swimsuits.

They will be judged on poise, posture, charm, style, graceful execution and overall appearance in the formal competition. The fourth category is personal achievement and community involvement. Personal achievement encompasses accomplishment in special areas...i.e. hobbies, home projects, music, dance, little theatre, personal career goals, etc. Community involvement involves any type of voluntary service to community, to private organizations, charities, hospital guild, etc.

For an entry form or additional pageant information write: Illinois Mother - Daughter Pageant, Pageant Productions Co., 434 W. Downer Place, Aurora, Illinois 60506 or phone: (312) 896-9833.

NEXT WEEK'S HOROSCOPE

BY SALOME

Aries (Mar. 21-Apr. 19) Look before you leap into a so-called idyllic situation. Your idol may be making idle promises. Proof of past performances gives a better idea of future expectations.

Taurus (Apr. 20-May 20) Your warm personality soon thaws an icy situation. Meanwhile, pursue other openings. Waiting for opportunities to come along wastes your valuable time. Act quickly.

Gemini (May 21-June 20) You soon find help in making adjustments from one situation to another. But there are hidden truths which must be uncovered before you can make a major move forward.

Cancer (June 21-Jul. 20) A secret you confided to a so-called good friend could come back to cause you some embarrassment. But true allies rally to your aid and help you overcome problems.

Leo (Jul. 21-Aug. 22) Make good on a long-standing promise to take someone special out for a night on the town. You'll both be happier for having spent time together. Expect an important call soon.

Virgo (Aug. 22-Sept. 22) A mystery seems impossible to solve. But you'll soon find a clue that helps you confront the truth. Meanwhile, kin provide much-needed emotional support.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) You have the class it takes to score high marks in personal relationships. Stop listening to those who feed your doubts and start believing in your own potential.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) Ask family and friends to be patient as you fulfill unexpected new business obligations. Later, there'll be lots of quality time available to spend with loved ones.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) Hold on! All facts have not yet been revealed to you. Do not dive into uncharted depths that could hold hidden dangers. Ignore those who urge you to do so now.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) An aura of doubt surrounds your best-intentioned efforts to make changes in a current relationship. A stronger foundation of trust needs to be established.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) Yes, it's divine to forgive. But it's smart not to forget how you were hurt. Learn your lesson well so that you don't risk repeating the painful episode later.

Pisces (Feb. 19-Mar. 20) Resist the impulse to wash your hands of an apparently impossible impasse in your romantic situation. A period of patience produces hoped-for results.
